ie problem?

I installed avatar carousel on my joomla 1.0.13 site and it works great in FF, but it breaks in IE. I am using IE 7 and it just shows the avatars in a vertical list. I would love to see this work on my site because it is a very neat effect, if only everyone would use FF! I left the module live on my site, at the bottom: www.knoxepc.org/youth
Any thoughts on how to make it work in IE?

thanks,
ben

oh yeah, the module is set to be viewed by registered users only, use this to log in:
username: test
password: testing

ok thanks, I actually have read that before. I just figured that the combined knowledge of people who use the moolets might have come up with some solution. I was in no way implying that the developer of moolets owes me any support for IE. If anyone does have an idea of how to get it to work for IE I'd love to know. Unfortunately the reality for us all is that most people, for whatever reason continue to use IE.

thanks!
