
Moo\'s online lite for joomla 1.5?

Posted by Reclaimer - 2008/09/12 19:30

I really like your lite module, but i'm using joomla 1.5 so it does not work. Is there ever going to be a 1.5 version and if so when?

I actually started on this yesterday. The 1.5 Framework is a completely different animal. Looks like I have to re-write the entire modules and not just adjust a few lines of code. So I expect this could take a couple of weeks to pull off.

but I am on it finally

That is wonderful news. I loved the "online lite" for Joomla 1.x. Users really liked the way avatars popped up in realtime. The only drawback was that those using IE never got to see this.....

Thats amazing. This will be a great improvement to my website. while you're at it would it be possible to add simple sounds for login/logout/away changes?

Well. technically it is possible to trigger sounds from mootools events. I will look into while I am in there..

Joomla 1.5 has a different structure for making database calls. I have all that worked out, however it does not function on a page called in via AJAX (which we do in mootools). I need to find another way, which I know exists as I see in the Community Builder for 1.5 there is a AJAX driven username checker. I need to reverse engineer that as the next step. My guess is you are at least two weeks out on a Beta.

i know you said 2 weeks but was wondering how this is going?

Im planning to use this on a friends website and would be really cool if you had a working for 1.5

Thanks

Muzzy

currently not working out. I have not figure out a way to do the mootools ajax call with the new database schema. It does not seem to support a direct call which is needed. I guess at some point I will have to create my own class to handle this but that will take a ton of time I do not have currently sorry

no worries. would be nice but its not so simple i can live with using it. just have to go for a less fancy one.

Thanks
