
Any Drupal Users Out There?

Posted by brian_williford - 2007/09/21 02:52

I ran a Drupal bases site a few years back and really like the clean, lightweight nature of that CMS for smaller websites. I image that app has grown over the years but have not checked up on it.

Is there anyone out there that could use any of these moolets on Drupal or any other CMS for that matter?

Hi Brian,

I haven't used Drupal for about a year now. I remember the day I stopped using it and converted to Joomla - thats' when I came cross those template demons at RT. Checking a little closer I then realised the Joomla community is far more involved and developing at a speed that I'm afraid would appear to be leaving drupal and it's rivals behind. But then that's just my opinion.

Now I don't doubt that your modules would spruce up a drupal site or a modx site for that matter, but unless there's another few hundred authors like yourself that are looking to revitalize those communities I'm afraid you're probably be flogging a dead donkey !

Still it's worth a shot.....
