
strange values

Posted by cooperation - 2007/12/07 03:23

Hello, I have just installed this nice feature, because all the other stats modules did deliver wrong or diferent values.

Now, I am again confused for the values I recieve of this module:

3838 Users
118 today
14 this week
17 this month

does this mean that I have 118 users which did a login on my page today?
Or does it mean that I have 118 new registered useres today?

same with "this week":
14 users have logged in this week
or 14 new registered useres in this week

same with "this month"

..

and there the problem starts: I know that I have 24 new users this month!?! so where does this 17 come from???

Please help me out of my confusion!

Thanks in advance

Re:strange values

Posted by brian_williford - 2007/12/07 05:29

Hello,

I replied to your other post, I need a url to the site to see what is going on.

as far as the stats go with mine is set up to read users from community builder, so it does not read new registrations to the site as that is what the other moolets do, but rather only uses that registered and then came to the forums. Fireboard has its own table for tracking visitors to the forum.

Now if you are using the setup that does not use community builder then there may be an issue send url and let me know which way you are doing this thnks